To whom it may concern,

Alexis Woodward worked as a remote Jr. Developer since May 2021 for our Web Development department. Our Jr. Developer position allows us to train and grow young developers who would like to contribute their skills to the web industry. During Alexis's time here at Digital Division she showed tremendous growth, collaboration and technical skills.

Alexis's motivation and dedication to her role allowed us to transition Alexis to build several website projects independently. Her enthusiastic attitude brought a lot of positive energy to our group and was admired and supported by her colleagues.

I highly recommend Alexis for any position she is considering in web development. She would be an amazing asset to any company. If you have any further questions please do not hesitate to contact me.
